John Archbell Photography

While enrolled in art school I was drawn to the power of Photography.

Graduating the Applied Photography course in '88 at Sheridan College in Oakville gave me a deep understanding of film and light. Working in large, medium and 35 mm formats, I've come to embrace the immediacy of digital formats. Building on the fundamentals of film and darkroom work, I'm still learning what the power of photography can bring.

Still active in commercial, portrait and wedding photography, lately I've been drawn to the natural world with a focus on birds.

"I've lived in Innisfil for the past 23 years with wife and three sons. I look forward to what new photo and video work might bring."
